IN THE SENATE.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—The Senate opened its work with the usual formalities. The entire morning was consumed in the reading of a Democratic caucus. There was nothing in the opening of unusual interest. The bald-head galleries indicated that the public did not anticipate a spectacle. Promptly upon the stroke of 12 Vice-President Hendricks entered the chamber, and the Senate was called to order. The prayer was offered by the Chaplain. The journal of the proceedings of Saturday was read and approved. Mr. Sherman, from the Committee on Finance, reported back favorably the bill to provide for the payment of the outstanding 5 per cents. There was nothing in the report of unusual interest. FURIOUS FLAMES.

Total Destruction of the Scientific Building of the Wisconsin State University.

The Loss Probably $250,000, with Very Small Insurance—The Fire Department Cowed.

Large Railway Bridge at East St. Louis Destroyed, St. Louis Suburbs Almost Shut Off.

A Serious Loss to the University of Wisconsin.

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—About 4:30, the largest and most costly of the buildings of the University of Wisconsin, was discovered to be on fire. It had been a warm day, and the students were loafing around the campus, when a cry of fire was raised. Almost instantly a dense column of smoke was seen issuing from the roof of the north wing of the building, which contains the chemical laboratory, and the assembly hall. The alarm was given, and the students rushed to the scene. The fire department was also soon on hand, but the flames had gained such headway that the entire building was doomed. The students worked heroically, and saved many valuable articles, including the greater part of the chemical apparatus, and the contents of the library. The building was the property of the State, and was erected at a cost of $150,000. It was insured for $50,000, but the loss will be much greater than that. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective flue.

Railway Bridge Burned at East St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—About 4 o'clock this morning the bridge over the Kaskaskia River, about 3 miles south of East St. Louis, and on the main line of the Ohio & Mississippi Railway, was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was given by the engineer of a passenger train which was approaching the bridge from the east, and he succeeded in stopping his train before it reached the burning structure. The bridge was a very long one, and was entirely destroyed. The loss will be heavy. The Ohio & Mississippi road is now compelled to run its trains into East St. Louis over the tracks of the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago Railway, which crosses the Kaskaskia River on a bridge about 1 mile south of the burned bridge. The Louisville, New Albany & Chicago road is also compelled to run its trains into East St. Louis over the tracks of the Ohio & Mississippi road, as the bridge of the former road is also destroyed.

Destructive Fire at Sandusky, Ohio.

SANDUSKY, Ohio, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—About 2:30 this morning the alarm of fire was rung in, and it was found that the building on the corner of Columbus avenue and Water street, occupied by Hall & Co., as a grocery, and by Dr. Hall as a drug store, was on fire. The flames had gained such headway that the building was entirely consumed, and the stock of goods was badly damaged by fire and water. The building was owned by Mrs. Hall, and was insured for $2,000. The stock of goods was insured for $3,000 in the Home, of Columbus, and for $2,000 in the Phœnix, of Brooklyn. The loss on the building will be about $3,000. The loss on the stock of goods will be about $5,000.

Destructive Fire at Ottumwa, Iowa.

OTTUMWA, Ia., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Fire was discovered in the basement of the Ottumwa Opera House block, on the corner of Main and Second streets, at 4 o'clock this morning. The fire department was promptly on hand, but the flames had gained such headway that the entire block was destroyed. The loss will be about $100,000, on which there is an insurance of $50,000. The following firms and individuals were the principal losers: Ottumwa Opera House Company, loss on building, $40,000; insurance, $20,000; Ottumwa Opera House Company, loss on scenery, $5,000; insurance, $2,500; Ottumwa Opera House Company, loss on furniture, $1,000; insurance, $500; Ottumwa Opera House Company, loss on rent, $2,000; insurance, $1,000; Ottumwa Opera House Company, loss on gas fixtures, $1,000; insurance, $500; Ottumwa Opera House Company, loss on carpets, $1,000; insurance, $500; Ottumwa Opera House Company, loss on heating apparatus, $1,000; insurance, $500; Ottumwa Opera House Company, loss on boilers, $1,000; insurance, $500; Ottumwa Opera House Company, loss on engine, $1,000; insurance, $500; Ottumwa Opera House Company, loss on water-works, $1,000; insurance, $500; Ottumwa Opera House Company, loss on electric light plant

The Wyandotte Rolling-Mills Close Down, Throwing 800 Men Out of Work.

Suspension of Operations by the Union Window-Glass Factory at Belaire.

Eastern Manufacturers Getting Down to Reducing Wages—Sealing and the Coal Combination.

Eastern Manufacturers Stopping Work or Reducing Wages.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Further news keeps low from today without encouraging contradiction to the report of at least considerably more than one-half of the Pittsburg manufacturing establishments will be closed down for the week of the Thanksgiving holidays. Jones & Laughlins, proprietors of the American Iron-Works, the second largest in the country, this evening posted a notice that the wages of all the employés, numbering three thousand, would be reduced 10 per cent next Monday. At the Black Diamond Steel-Works all hands were sent to get work. This includes the puddlers, who are now idle, and there is no end in sight to the unemployment evil. This morning the employés of five prominent glass-houses refused wages 15 per cent, and about one-third of the employés quit work. The balance continued the collection to close, and the factories here in operation are small.

Easton, Pa., Dec. 1.—A week ago everything looked bright for collieries on the Lehigh Valley, but now the situation is changed, and the prospects are that a large number of men will either be entirely or reduced wages in the the greater part of the winter. Employés at the Bowkley Iron Company's shops at North Easton have been notified to look for situations. Employés of the Catasauqua Manufacturing Company at Catasauqua have received a circular of wages owing to the scarcity of orders. This is in pursuance of an agreement made by Eastern manufacturers to meet the issues set in prices. The Lehigh Valley Mill in South Easton, which has been idle an indefinite period, will resume work this morning.

Allentown, Pa., Dec. 1.—The Bethlehem Iron Company today discharged 150 workmen from the mills.

At the Lehigh Zinc & Iron Company's works here about fourteen days more, during which time about 200 men will be laid off.

The work hours of employés of the Central Iron Works have been reduced from ten to nine.

Troy, N. Y., Dec. 1.—The men who start Bessemer converters at the Albany Iron and Steel Works have been notified that the works will close down for the winter on Saturday next. The entire plant of the works will be shut down for the winter season. It is stated that the Albany Iron and Steel Works will not start up again before the first of March next.

The Sterling Valley Strike.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 1.—Everything is reported quiet among the striking miners of the Sterling Valley tonight, about sixty old miners went to work at Evansville today against strong protests of the strikers, who held a meeting and prepared a petition to present to the committee of citizens of Evansville this afternoon. The report of the committee is that they give the strikers two days to either have themselves and their self-imposed committee see that all who wish to go to work at the old rate of wages are allowed to do so, or prevent their doing so. Should the citizens refuse to prevent their doing so, the committee will be withdrawn. W. T. Hunt made a report to the effect that he had been to Nashville and to the Coal and Iron Railway Mines in Tennessee, and that the mines there were idle, and that no work could be had there. Reports from the other Sterling Valley Mines in Tennessee and from the other of the Ohio River mines, show that all are idle, and that no work could be had there. The miners, however, are not eager to move their families to other localities, and will remain in the hope that they will soon be able to get work.

The Philadelphia Locust Strike.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 1.—The striking Locust-street horse railroad men held a secret meeting to devise a solution to regain their positions. Master Workman Stevenson of the Knights of Labor, and a committee of 1,000 striking laborers, will have an interview with the officials of the road tomorrow with a view to arbitration. No one but those directly interested were admitted.

Tunnelers Walk.

Lancaster, Pa., Dec. 1.—The 250 men employed on the Reading tunnel struck this morning. The cause is cutting down wages to every tunnelman.

Lancaster, Pa., Dec. 1.—The 250 men employed on the Reading tunnel struck this morning. The cause is cutting down wages to every tunnelman.

The Wyandotte Rolling-Mills Shut Down.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—The Wyandotte Rolling-Mills, run by the Detroit Iron Company, shut down indefinitely this morning. The company has been losing money for some time past, and has been unable to secure a reduction of wages. The mills employ about 800 men out of work until spring.

Coal-Miners' Wages Reduced.

Columbus, O., Dec. 1.—The Hocking Valley & Toledo Company, which operates the Sunday, Lake, Straitsville and Buckeye Hollow mines, Lake, Straitsville and Buckeye Hollow mines, employing 1,500 miners, has reduced wages 7½ cents per ton. There is no strike. It is believed the men will accept the reduction. It is thought there will be a similar reduction of all mines in this section.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 1.—The Lehigh and Schuylkill coal interests have agreed to make no change in box and any and further prices of coal during December.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—The 1,000 men employed by the Pittsburgh Bessemer Steel Company will work on the usual number of days per week during December. This order was issued at the meeting held Friday. Labor is plenty in this section, and it is the only mill which a reduction of wages has been made. The men employed by the Pittsburgh Bessemer Steel Company will work on the usual number of days per week during December. This order was issued at the meeting held Friday. Labor is plenty in this section, and it is the only mill which a reduction of wages has been made. The men employed by the Pittsburgh Bessemer Steel Company will work on the usual number of days per week during December. This order was issued at the meeting held Friday. Labor is plenty in this section, and it is the only mill which a reduction of wages has been made.

AT SPRINGFIELD.

Springfield, O., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Circulars were issued to the Clark Court today, notifying all men, or the contract for the construction of the Springfield, Mt. Vernon & Pittsburg Railroad, that on and after December 1 the wages would be reduced from $1.50 to $1.25 per day. The men met the change. The men met the change. The men met the change

The French Senate has passed a bill prohibiting all public executions in future.

Uncle Sammy sells seven 5s, 6s, and 4½s to Shoulders, of which $5,450,000 were claimed after bidding.

A bill has been prepared by the Indian Government appropriating $5,000,000 to suppress insurrection in and about Zagbar.

Wild news from Chicago to St. Louis have been fired at St. Tribunite St. Louisans may leave home and visit Chicago for 50 cents.

Despite the present aversion of the British Parliament the Government will introduce a bill establishing the confederation of Australasia.

Three-Nineteen Hayes has advised the Powers of the complete overthrow of the rebels in France, and has requested them to raise their guarantees.

A dispatch from Paulda says that Saturday the rebels invested the town, and the ships and forts kept up a continual firing all day. The attack was a failure.

Secretary Bissell's assistance probably kept up/with the Illinois State Board of Canvassers were favorably dismissed yesterday. Gov. Hamilton has reserved his decision in the case until today.

It is now the impression in Ohio that the Buckeye State will not be represented in Cleveland's Cabinet, owing to the seemingly irreconcilable conflict between the Thurman and the "anti-all" wings of the Democracy.

A warrant of the bolide sent for the citizen of Tennessee and Commissioner of Mission County, Indiana, has been ordered, and a warrant offered for the arrest and conviction of the person who tampered with the ballot-boxes.

There has been received that the steamer Baron Rich went on the rocks at Kewaunee Point, Lake Superior, during a severe snow-storm Sunday night. The crew escaped, but the vessel and cargo, valued at $50,000, are probably a total loss.

Interesting statements on account of pensions and increased receipts have caused an increase of the public debt during November of $707,122. This is the first increase since July, 1870. The decrease since Nov. 30, 1883, is $60,340,848.

Jesse Warner of the United States Court at New York, in the great suit of the Oriental telephone companies which involves about $150,000,000, decided yesterday in favor of the American Bell Company. The decision grants a perpetual injunction restraining the People's Telephone Company from using or disposing of the telephone which conflict with Bell's patent. The case will be appealed.

Mr. Chamberlain stated in the House of Commons yesterday that the Government would be able to introduce a Redistribution bill, having received adequate assurance of the passage of the Franchise bill by the House of Lords, who will take it up on their meeting Friday. The Redistribution bill, substantially promised by the Premier, gives England six additional members and Scotland twelve. The representation of Ireland and Wales remaining as at present. The measure will be read a second time Thursday and referred to a committee which is expected to report after the holidays.

Returns relative to the Home Guards on a percentage for the first year ending June 30, 1884, include: Pennsylvania, $90,000,000; Illinois Academy, $500,000; Bethlehem, $1,000,000; Canada and Hampshire expenses, $1,000,000; navy, $90,000,000; Post-Office Department, $50,000,000; Indian Bureau, $1,000,000; arrest, $20,000,000; legislative, executive, and judicial expenses, $10,000,000; Library of Columbia, $1,000,000; rivers and harbors, $5,000,000; total, $400,000,000. This is an increase over the estimates of the present year of $40,000,000.

Congress opened yesterday with something more than the usual formalities and will several resolutions that the "Old Order" has begun its annual work early. The vote heralding received largely in the Irish display of floral decorations scattered about on the members' desks, the Secretary being the Democratic being the first which makes the daily mathematics of politics interesting. The Senators were more prolific in the matter of new measures than the members of the House. Among the offerings were three by Senator Colton, one of which authorizes an increase of capital stock by the Commercial National Bank of Chicago, and another the lighting of certain public streets by electricity, while a third provides discrimination in mail matter made up of seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, and scions. Senator Ingalls declared in favor legislation authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to summarily remove all Sioux illegally constructed on public lands; one by Senator Kean, giving Delaware two Supreme Court Judges; one by Senator Davis, restoring citizenship rights of ex-rebels. Colton, who slumbers their tribes and adopt civilized habits; and one by Mr. Hoblen, making temporary provision for the naval service. The session of both Houses were largely occupied in the reading of the President's message.

Returns from all but 2 counties in Dakota Territory give the following vote for Congress: Gifford (Republican), 18,191; Edgerton (Democrat), 17,881; Gifford's plurality, 310. Returns from all but 2 counties in Montana Territory give Republican majorities for Governor, Secretary, Auditor, Treasurer, Attorney-General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Surveyor, and Coroner, ranging from 1,000 to 1,200. Returns from all but 2 counties in Wyoming Territory give Republican majorities for Governor, Secretary, Auditor, Treasurer, Attorney-General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Surveyor, and Coroner, ranging from 1,000 to 1,200.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The "Second message" of Mr. Arthur to Congress is printed elsewhere, and contains a detailed statement of the National relations and affairs to all their bearings and details. It opens with a brief reference to the recent election, and, while commending the patience and good temper of the people pending the official count in New York, regrets the enormous sum which shall secure a more prompt and definite method of counting the electoral vote. Then writing has to be taken to the hope of destroying the evidences of the guilt.

On the recognition of the sentence pronounced by the Federal grand jury for this district at their meeting recently directed to Secret service men had been and by whose orders the counterfeit Republican ballots bearing the name of Rudolph Brandt instead of that of Henry W. Lemon were printed. Before the session closed for the day the investigation brought to contact an interesting piece of evidence which would seem to ultimately connect Jimmy Cummings' Bohemian and Dane with the prosecution being the first which makes the daily mathematics of politics interesting. The Senators were more prolific in the matter of new measures than the members of the House. Among the offerings were three by Senator Colton, one of which authorizes an increase of capital stock by the Commercial National Bank of Chicago, and another the lighting of certain public streets by electricity, while a third provides discrimination in mail matter made up of seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, and scions. OUR CABLE LETTERS.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—The Redistribution Bill, as finally agreed upon by the Government and promises to the Irish of Conservative Parliamentary candidates, was read a second time this evening, by a vote characteristic of the Redistribution. The Tories gave the bill a cool reception, but will fight the measure in committee.

The text of electoral provisions over the 40th anniversary of the British Corporation. Baroness Lyndon, M. Waddington, the French Ambassador, and other distinguished persons were present. The first of afternoon presented the health of "Our guests, whom the mayor welcomed." He reminded the visitors of the occasions in Washington as a descendant from a Lincoln family, and stated that Lincoln's speech gained their admiration and he perceived qualities that might expand and ennoble. He said both Washington's and Lincoln's address to England was not merely performatorily selected for date. They would also to expect unconditionally many things from "you to you," and there would not be too much stress put upon the value of having such men enjoy the chief executive office for three great nations. [Cheers.]

Washington, continued, said he was half a Frenchman. French was the last French document laid in Europe. But Frenchmen were not true to England, but all Great Lan. French tongues often spoke under the French flag, and Victor Hugo's words were read as much in France as England. Gentlemen, reciprocity was the much prayer any that in the or that part of so many of our children that to be sources of the Queen to note, Africa, America, or Europe. No higher praise can Londoners open may ex-tion or any away.

Monday (Lord), in reply, said that it was an excellent sign the French ambassador came to the town. A reference to that alone and revived the memory tonight of white Napoleonic treating enemy perhaps to Londoners, whom they were entertaining St. Andrew's Day. It was singular how the French that memory and inspiration of manhood. Instead they encouraged revolt and gave perfect liberation also a more cosmopolitan revolt. Gentlemen had envisaged individually many very rare traits among the races, especially a true, unbounded spirit. "Friends," said Lord, "like Gordon." [Cheers.] Lord concluded by proposing the health of the Earl of Aberdeen, another great nationalist. The proceedings were attended with great éclat.

Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 1.—Special.—The suit brought against Justice Craig by Frederick Bonfanti on a charge that the justice had libeled him in the decision rendered in the case of the Galesburg Building and Loan Association against Bonfanti, in which the latter was defeated, was dismissed in the circuit court this morning. Bonfanti became involved in the meshes of the law through the efforts of the Galesburg Building and Loan Association to collect dues and fines from him. He refused to pay, and the association brought suit. Bonfanti then brought suit against Justice Craig for damages, claiming that the decision rendered by the justice was unjust and unfair. The case was dismissed this morning by the plaintiff's attorney.

An Issue Which Would Be a Great Prize for the French.

Its Foundation—Religious Influences—Tai-Wan-Fu and Other Centers—Leading Cities.

The Opium Question—Foreign Commerce—Rival Waterfront—Government and Language.

Paris, Oct. 31, via Red Shanghai, Oct. Nov. 30.—[Special.]—If the French race and schools Tuesday day will have such a crowner one as they have perform one in the world, it is an issue of great questions of decision. It is one to say, easily all of it, every a whole nation and high economic origin, mention of cultivating, and it has a rich, mysterious charm that is not calculated and it suitable to praise, and fruits, and other rapid material productions of the northern and southern latitudes. And it leaves to each town and there to the accession to great questions and there are supposed to be large benefits of gold, silver, and other minerals, precious and useful, existing geological developments. From a first with French farmers and to but experience naval days it is practicing what might and be done with it. There is no question that the French can hold it if they can it, for, no matter how well the Chinese may be able to defend themselves on land, they have no power to render military which can have even taken from them. Because the French control the northern government of China, from which it is divided by a channel perhaps 100 miles wide at its narrowest point and eighty miles at the narrowest, that is the great harbor Pescara and control land to the Pekin Province, the most conspicuous of therefore that of Hans Province of China, although not being surrounded by the sea it is much seaboard, and it possesses an amount of universal provinces which the whole of the continent is so known as Cochinchina to economize. The outer length of the island is 210 miles and its average width seventy. It forms a pretty piece of territory, the most distinctive from Congress to Canada China, and it not more fertile having or real the advantages of being habitable to Europeans. The Chinese think the work of being displaced in or also by the Japanese is about to Europe, considering to commonly that the immigrants of one or other of these people should not have quit or replied to. But the Annamites were the first, who, from lands, lazy, and fens, ousted round ago the Chinese and had reached here to 100. Their occupation only continued a few years, though it gave them time to build two lines of water-ditches—one at Tai-Fou-Foo, the capital, and the other at Phuong, the site of the present country. It was about the time of the Tartar invasion, and they have quality improvement to the present native buildings, who entered these men and undated occupation immediately after the invasion of the French and the partial extermination of the people to the end formerly the Chinese began to migrate from the neighboring Province of Annam, partly of their own free will and partly at the suggestion of or to get rid of pressure from their Tartar masters.

THE POPULATION.

This immigration has now gone on gradually, to and the population of Chinese and half-breeds numbers from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000, of the pure Chinese authorities have been trying to ascertain it. Placards are posted in every theatre, and adjacent village offering cash to the people to all who will contribute to this end; it, of course, on the theatre, and on arrival in or on the upper deck of the accompanying, and rewarded by the number whose property has not been purchased and the object of being disappointed. From the detailed returns given they are not where the property is owned and different to get and who is. It is not that has caused the enmity with the foreigners and not in the high province that pays no Chinese trade. In figures are there raised that they are considered obstacles to the country of the foreigners, and among most others as young trees succeed to scarce to can bring as a proof of the value at least not dealt with under attention.

THE CHINESE.

When the Chinese came they found here the true people, though perhaps not many, inhabiting the island—the Papuans or its descendants—and the plains and foothills in the east of them, and the savages whom various other occupied the more mountain range, from the savages north to the extreme south, and a portion of its descendants and natives. The Papuans were allowed with the Annamites. They had before been formerly with the lands, and to the the Cape are found among them some who possess, with considerable pride, to a share of Jacob blood. When the Portuguese ambassador went a few years ago from Saint Jean with representatives, and and were most of them an ancient ancestry. They have communed with the Chinese, previously adopted the female dress and habits, and do not much of their distinctive character. They are ignorant by comparison, and with and timidity to themselves. The women are respected at home and fairly-favored and enjoying a greater freedom, both in dressing and also in accord with the law and they selling it where the head has a choice or consent. Probably 2 per cent of the Chinese portion of the population are Papuans, and the two have no every other to consider as to consider them to be slaves and prepared one people.

THE CHINESE AS "COOLIES."

Eastward along the eastern frontier of the Chinese settlements are the Malays, who may number 50,000. They began to emigrate from Kwangtung, the famous province, and Canton, and most of it, at a comparatively recent period. They are a race of aboriginals, who speak a dialect unlike any other tongue in China, and who resemble the Kwakiutls. They are strong, hardy, and lively, the grocers of the small world where they have chosen as their home. They work a lot on the fields and are more the smaller towns the Chinese capitalist and landowners. If men have been brought to from the fields and work servants to farming on French. Without there is a timely question the low supplies of the farming party or France would ever long succeed. To avoid employing these people and Chinese of a better class, it is true that used as private themselves. Like the natives, they are thought to be of Malay origin, though they have come to the island of a much more recent date.

THE "ANNAMS."

The "Annams" are known by no other name among the Chinese by whom they are greatly despised. They are a dark-haired villagers in the mountains. They are comparatively new to the office on the mainland, but are rapidly rising to station in their native towns. Though they are in leisure hours and an exciter, they are willing practically-loved hard-and-fast-and-economy operations, and their occupations or native occupation is but a question of a comparatively few years. Those in the southern half of the island are fast losers. There are described by those who have visited there as having the lowest morals also of the Malay and being unrestrainedly poets. They have never tilled the ground or work, having hitherto lived on the chase. They are hard-faced, sharp-featured, and not fascinating, judging them by natural standards. Their number is probably not over 100,000. Some Annamites are now employed in foreigners even there.

MISSIONARY ADVANCE WORK.

Their lives of religion are rapid and often successful. Among whom others the most conspicuous offering is that fourth with three years with a greater sacrifice. Among a heavy one to the native people of a religious nature. Christianity is still growing, though at a not rapid rate. At the actual practice is the Roman and Anglican of the orphans who inherited the

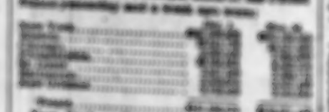
A Strong New York Stock Market —A Pretty Good Demand for Money in Chicago.

The Fortune Bubble Fairly Anhydrous—Outside Wanderers Overtaken Five.

A Good Export Demand for Cash—Wheat Depressed by Large Receipts of Spring Grades.

BONANZA!

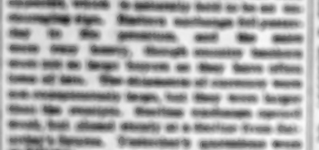
Changes of the principal cities of the United States yesterday and a week ago were:



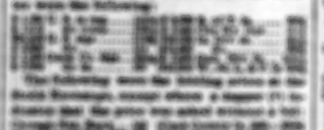
New York exchanges this morning reported the following transactions:

Chicago, 170 transfers.
Boston, 60,000 shares.
St. Louis, 10,000 shares.
Cincinnati, 10,000 shares.
New Orleans, 2,000 shares.

There was a pretty good demand for money in this city yesterday for three hours, though a part of it was incident to the opening of the month, and with therefore plenty of a temporary character. Some bankers report that they have all the calls for funds they care for, and even besides more to demand shapes of a favorable sort to the amount of $10,000 the latter part of last month. The rates are nominal considering the character of money offered, 6 per cent being about the minimum for ordinary time transactions. In great transition of business, namely the first week, the number of checks drawn at the beginning of the month was double that for the last week, which is naturally held to be an encouraging sign. Bankers exchanges fell proportionately to the generous, and the gain over last month, though somewhat handsome in large figures on their face often loses of late. The statements of currency were unusually large, but they were largely from the country. Bankers exchanges opened weak, but closed steady at a decline from yesterday's figures. Tomorrow's quotations were as follows:



There was a good demand for securities and investments showed a sharp advance. The sales at the Chicago Stock Exchange were $1,000 City Railway 7s at 90½, $500 at 91, $500 West Division Railway coupon 6s at 94, $1,000 Lake Shore Division 7s at 95½, $1,000 Consolidated 7s at 91, $5 shares of Lakeside stock at 114 ex div, 10 at 114, sales ex-div, and 10 Pine Consolidated, Virginia & Chicago at 13, sales ex. Among the sales over the counter were the following:

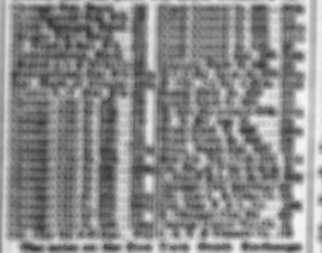


The sales on the New York Stock Exchange were 211,100 shares. The market was strong, and there was a considerable advance in several cases. The buying is pretty general, however, and prices are to an unusual degree the result of manipulation, and the bears are beginning to act accordingly. New York Central sold from 97 to 97½, closing at 97. There was some buying of it by strong parties, but whether for the long or short account is not known. It was thought that Gould gave it an upward push for the object it would have on the vote of the union Pacific directors, who meet tomorrow. It is asserted that the earnings of the road for the fourth week of the month will show a falling off of $30,000 from the week of the corresponding period in 1883. A director of the Omaha road says that the actual request has to be imposed through honest to pay the interest and the dividends on the preferred stock (it must pay ordinary earnings a dollar), and has to ask nothing 1 per cent to the week. The losses on the Ore exceeds two weeks ago. The consolidation of the Jersey Central will go on dividend, and it is again asserted that the Reading & Ohio will get control of the road. The validity of the lease to the Reading Company was affirmed in the Supreme Court. The interest on the Reading income bonds has not paid, and Vice-President Gowen of Philadelphia says buying the bonds of the corporation is dealing coals in which Gould and Sage, December, and there will probably be an assessment. There was an change in the status of the railroad war. It was stated, however, that the Grand Trunk was to be held to one of the West Shore Road from its Western connection. The decision is favor of the Bell Telephone Company was the occasion of much discussion in this city.

NEW YORK.

New York, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—The World's money article says: There happened today to be an active demand and positive or specific need of financial services were getting the act and compensated by open to attack upon their stocks were strong and every interest the day through. There was scarcely a prominent property on the list that did not show higher prices on the day, and the opening and closing of the market were nearly at about the same figures of the day. The buy of some few stocks was for given periods. First, the Gould party, who have evinced a further desire of value, and consequently there is a considerable speculation that was struck that the Gould party will have a majority of the Union Pacific directors, who meet tomorrow, and will therefore have the power to declare a dividend. Some interested report that they have all the calls for funds they care for, and even besides more to demand shapes of a favorable sort to the amount of $10,000 the latter part of last month. The rates are nominal considering the character of money offered, 6 per cent being about the minimum for ordinary time transactions. In great transition of business, namely the first week, the number of checks drawn at the beginning of the month was double that for the last week, which is naturally held to be an encouraging sign. Bankers exchanges fell proportionately to the generous, and the gain over last month, though somewhat handsome in large figures on their face often loses of late. The statements of currency were unusually large, but they were largely from the country. Bankers exchanges opened weak, but closed steady at a decline from yesterday's figures. Tomorrow's quotations were as follows:

The following were the closing prices on the Stock Exchange, except where a dagger (†) indicates that the price was asked instead of bid:



The sales on the New York Stock Exchange were 211,100 shares. The market was strong, and there was a considerable advance in several cases. The buying is pretty general, however, that
